

Beware of Cynics!

Joseph Dobzynski, Q Dynamism™ Master Coach

I am sure that you have faced some of the most skeptical people even from your own family members or friends you know so well – when you discuss about your new venture in Internet Marketing.

I know it can be a shame especially when you consider the fact that the source of skepticism is coming from a very UNLIKELY source.

And unfortunately for most of the people, myself included, the painful part is to learn that your family members and friends are among the skeptics!

This article will keep the fire burning for you and reaffirm the beliefs of the rest who have already made quite a success in Internet Entrepreneurship.

The successful people I have heard of and even some whom I have had the privilege to meet online or in person always want to understand in what they believe.

And on the other hand, the cynics of life are people who want to believe in what they understand.

Do you see the differences here?

It simply means that cynics want to believe in the little knowledge they know on a subject. Today, I still have people asking me the following questions about my Internet Business:

1. Is it legal?
2. Will you go bankrupt?
3. Will you go to jail?

And yes, you and I can tell whether a person is genuinely concerned or just hoping he was right. It breaks one's heart sometimes because these are the questions coming out from the mouth of those whom they considered friends.

If you are just starting your Internet Business from home and have yet to succeed (which you will, in time, fueled with a strong will and determination) and are surrounded by cynical people, it may very well be a sign telling you to change your set of friends to a better group of motivated people – the type of friends who would pull you up rather than push you down.

As an Internet Business owner, you need to associate with strong and healthy friends. Make strong relationship with friends who will encourage you and pull you out of the rubble, not friends who will make you a fool and push you into the rubble.

The good places to start with are forums and discussion boards dedicated to Internet Business and Marketing.

Nothing is more powerful and motivating than being in the company of like-minded people sharing the same vision towards a positive goal.

As a final note, before the Wright brothers invented the first aircraft in history, they faced a lot of skeptics, too. Among them was their own father, who also happens to be an important man of a church.

It is a good thing that the Wright brothers didn't listen to their father for advice; otherwise can you imagine a world today without aircrafts?

Joseph Dobzynski is the Amanatee Group's Director of Operations. and a Q Dynamism™ Master Coach, a vigorously active, and energizing quality of coaching, using philosophical and scientific concepts of interpreting measures of forces residing within a person and the universe. He can be reached at www.amanatee.com or cii@amanatee.com